Students and faculty at an area career institute held a special ceremony to honor the victims of domestic violence.

The event at the YTI Career Institute in Altoona featured the release of balloons and the lighting of candles, but the activities were more than symbolic.

Agencies that help people dealing with domestic violence were also on hand to offer information and advice. YTI also plans to provide follow-up lectures, activities, videos and other materials related to sexual violence awareness for the rest of the school year.
