The theme of the Food Network competition was Halloween Wars and pastry chef Susan Notter used a massive pumpkin to create the winning display.

The reality cooking show awarded $50,000 to the winning team and a massive devil beast creation took the cake.

"We pushed ourselves and went above and beyond and did things we've never done before and of course it paid off in the end. It was just an amazing experience," Notter said.

During the 12-day competition in Los Angeles, Notter said contestants did create some less creepy Halloween displays but the chef who works at YTI-Lancaster was proud the beast won.
